JUNE DAYS IN OLD FLORENCE

MISS CLARA BELLE SHERR
WRITES OF ART GALLERIES.

AND THE BEAUTIFUL VILLAS

Also Tells of Visit on May 29 to the Leaning Tower, Baptistry, And Campo Santo at Pisa.

Another interesting letter has been received from Miss Clara Belle Sherr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sherr, who, in company with a party of California young ladies, has been viewing the beautiful scenery, the places of historic interest, and the priceless art treasures of old Florence and Pisa. She writes as follows:

Florence, Italy, May 30th.
It is Sunday once more and we all have the morning to ourselves to do as we please.

This is a lovely day and we are in a beautiful city, as far as I have seen it.

Yesterday we had our last breakfast in Rome at 6:45 o'clock, and soon took the train which carried us to Pisa. It was a delightful trip, as the day was comfortably cool and bright, the train was a fast one, and the country very pretty, all the mountains and valleys being covered with lovely red poppies and yellow and white daisies.

We reached Pisa at 2 p. m., having had our lunch on the train (the hotels always put up a lunch for us to carry with us) and at once took carriages for sightseeing.

One of the most wonderful places there is the Leaning Tower, which is 294 ft. high and leans 13 ft. Several of us climbed way to the top, going round and round a narrow stairway and all the time having very queer feelings, until at the top we could hardly stand up, having to lean like the tower.

It is very pretty as the picture shows.

Another interesting place is the beautiful cathedral, very much like the Mosque at Cordova, from which its interior was copied.

In it we saw the famous lamp which swings all the time, from which Galileo got the idea of a pendulum for a clock.

We also visited the Baptistry, a round building, beautiful inside and out, with lots of hard-carving. It is noted for its great echo too.

Back of it is the Campo Santo or sacred burying ground.

This concluded our visit at Pisa and we made a flying trip to the train, which took us to Florence, where we arrived at 6:45 p. m., loaded with dirt.

Florence
June 4th.—This is a grand city and we have had the best times every minute. Sunday afternoon we walked to the Pitti Palace and went all through it. 'Twas lovely and interesting, even more so than other places which I have seen. The gardens are beautiful. I must refer you again to Stoddard's fine description of the place.

Monday morning we began our sight-seeing, visiting first the cathedral. Its interior is bare and dark, but impressive on account of its grand dimensions. The Campanile, or bell-tower, next to the church, is the finest existing work of its kind, being four stories high and richly decorated with colored marble.

The Battistero, or church of San Giovanni Battista, has rich variegated marble ornamentation and handsome carvings, but is particularly interesting because, because of its three celebrated bronze doors. The first is Andrea Pisano's "Life of John the Baptist"; the second, Lorenzo Ghiberti's "History of Christ"; the third, Ghiberti's "Two Scenes from Scripture History."

Though all are beautiful, the last is considered a marvel of art.

The Oratory of the Misericordia was interesting. It is a charitable fraternity, the men succor the sick, poor and injured. We saw their rooms and the queerest ambulances. The brothers, all wealthy men of the city, are sequestered in their black robes, with cowls covering their heads, leaving apertures for the eyes only. These are worn to prevent recognition.

Monday afternoon we all took time for shopping and had great fun. Four of us stopped for a treat at a lovely place, where we sat out on a balcony and listened to a fine orchestra while we ate ice cream and cakes. The next day we visited the Palazzo Vecchio, or old palace, now used as the town hall.

We went through some of its rooms, never before shown to the public, and felt very smart. At the north corner of this edifice is a lion in bronze, the heraldic emblem of the town.

In front, a bronze slab marks the site of the statue at which Savonarola was burned.

Passing through some side streets we came to the house where Dante is said to have been born and across from it is the quaint church where he was married.

Next we visited the Loggia de Sanz, a magnificent open vaulted hall, used as a theatre for solemn ceremonies, which it might seem desirable to perform before the public. Under the arches are many marble statues, the principal ones being "Rape of the Sabinas" by Bologna, "Persons with Head of Medusa" by Benvenuto Cellini, and "Hercules Slaying the Centaur Nessus" by Bologna.

Then came the Uffizi gallery, which now has one of the greatest collections of art in the world, both in numbers and value. 'Twas here that we saw Fra Angelico's "Angels," beautiful paintings by Botticelli, Lorenzo di Credi and Verrocchio pictures, some by Titian, his famous "Flora" being one of the many.

With I might name and describe them all, especially the choice paintings and sculptures of the Tribune, but I have neither the time nor memory.

Tuesday afternoon we had a delightful trip to Fiesole, a town three miles up the mountain from Florence, where we visited the old cathedral, which was interesting as all around.

This town is interested in straw plattings for fans and little baskets, which the girls bought, but I spent my money in treating the crowd to a tea party in a delightful place, where we had a grand view of Florence.

Wednesday morning we saw the "Santa Croce" Gothic church, the interior of which is very impressive, with its numerous monuments of celebrities, and one's interest is greatly increased by frescoes of Giotto. They were discovered in 1800, under a coating of whitewash and, after restoration, being beautiful now.

This is the largest church belonging to any mendicant order and the cloisters are very picturesque.

Next we visited the "Bargello," which was restored from a prison and headquarters of police into a national museum, illustrative of medieval and modern history of art. There is a fine collection of Renaissance bronzes and marbles. The ground floor has a rich collection of weapons and the upper story is devoted to art.

In the afternoon we went through the far-famed Pitti Gallery, which extends through a mile of splendid rooms filled with exquisite paintings.

After this we took the finest drive in Florence, past the many fascinating villas, for which the city is famous.

On our return were treated again to ice cream.

Yesterday we saw many interesting places, the Church and Monastery of San Marco, the latter containing fine frescoes by Fra Angelico, the Accademia delle Arti, with its remarkably fine collection of pictures and Michael Angelo's celebrated "David." There were several other churches but I will not speak of all of them.

Hurrah! Four letters just arrived for me and I cannot write any more, am so excited. Will answer from Venice.

Mrs. D. E. Jones, living at 167 Westused Donn's Kidney Pills and found them to be a very reliable remedy for backache and kidney trouble. I suffered from pains in my back for years and although I tried different remedies

I received no relief. I could not walk upright and had a constant dull pain across my loins. If I sat for a while I could scarcely get up and at night

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

FAT-MAKING FOODS.

Consumptive, anemic and nervous persons need to produce more fat. Cod liver oil, emulsified, has long been used to increase fat in invalids. Butter, bacon, lard and pork have been the chief source of supply in the standard dietary. In recent years the consumption of olive and peanut oil has increased rapidly, and cotton seed oil has been largely substituted for lard. The vegetable oils are best, because purer, largely free from the germs which develop readily in all animal products, and are more easily assimilated. Oil should not be taken with protected food, but separately or with fruit or vegetables—usually two tablespoonfuls daily. A little lemon juice helps to make it palatable.

Fat can be made from any other food. The carnivorous animals are adapted to the production of fat from flesh, but man belongs to the quadrumanous, the nut and fruit-eating class, his alimentary canal closely resembling that of the orang and gorilla, which live on nuts and fruits. Nuts contain about 30 per cent. fat. If nuts are one-third the diet there will be about ten per cent. fat by weight.

JANESVILLE, WIS.

Why is the Overland Replac- ing Higher Priced Cars?

You will find in this city numerous instances of such change.

And this presents a serious and significant question for all automobile buyers.

These men who have changed must have had some strong irresistible incentive.

How did they come to the conclusion that a thousand or even two thousand dollars more would buy them no greater service or satisfaction than they secure in the Overland?

It is not easy to answer that question; because it is not easy to tell you, in this limited space, how good a car the Overland is. Thirty minutes' study of the Overland plant would send you away convinced that no car in the world—at any price—is more painstakingly, scientifically made.

Most men who have owned costlier cars are good judges of construction and better judges of service; and to them, as to expert engineers, the mechanical goodness of the Overland is an open book.

They see at a glance that a thousand or even two thousand dollars additional can buy them nothing more save—size.

And yet, the Overland "30" is by no means "small." It is a large, roomy, five-passenger car.

Thirty minutes in any other plant devoted to the manufacture of the fine cars selling for several thousand dollars more would reveal no single superiority either in method or equipment.

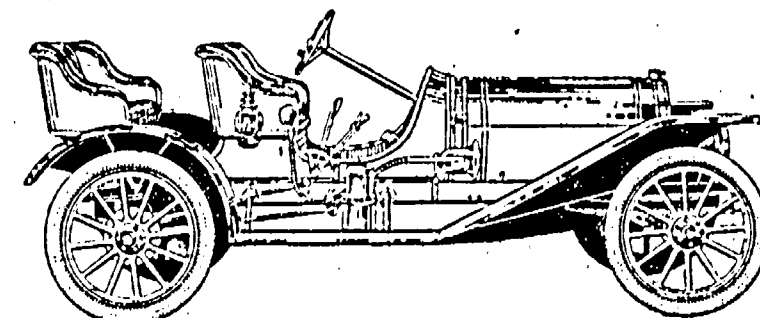

In no other plant would you find the same fineness and precision throughout—the same elaborate equipment for the attainment of absolute interchangeability.

After such an inspection you must confess: "I understand now why the Overland is replacing higher priced cars. No car could be better than this at the price."

Again, you would come to the same conclusion without visiting the plant, if you were even moderately versed in engineering or in motor car construction.

The expert, examining the Overland chassis, announces his decision boldly and immediately: "The finest piece of work I've ever seen at any price."

As to the man who has never bought any car before—he can convince himself by what thousands of Overlands have done in the past, by the wonderful things the Overland is doing in every community; and by the extraordinary enthusiasm of competent authorities of his own acquaintance in Janesville and Rock county.

WE MEAN BUSINESS

A farmer that lived about eight miles from Janesville recently went to Chicago to get a price on a bill of material to build a barn. In talking to a contractor during a visit to our office, he said that he had been to Chicago, and while at the office of one of the largest mail order houses, he was particularly impressed by the number of customers who called to complain. No particular effort was made to satisfy their complaints, their efforts seemed devoted entirely to showing the immensity of their plant and trying to impress customers with the fact of their being large. Their favorite phrase seemed to be that the grade of their material would be "up to specifications." True, it may be up to specifications, but the average customer does not know specifications and even if the material was below specifications, what recourse would he have after having paid for it?

And he must pay before he can receive material from a mail order house. However, he left the bill there to be figured and had his local dealer figure it also.

He found the dealer was about $40.00 lower than Chicago.

The fact is that the general practice of the mail order house is to cut the price particularly low on a few items to give the impression that they are low on EVERYTHING, whereas on an average bill they are not lower than local dealers, though they make claim after claim that the local dealers are robbing

the public.

There has been a feeling that it was useless to let local dealers figure on lumber bills, and to our knowledge, many bills have been furnished at prices higher than we would have asked for the same goods

had we an opportunity to make an estimate.

We wish to say that we will bid COMPETITIVE-

LY against local dealers, mail order houses and scalpers, and that our prices will hold the business to Janesville that rightly belongs here. Our method will be PRICE only, but our quality will be better,

our service quicker and our treatment more courteous, and we will be right here to adjust any difficulties that may come to you while building.

May we have an opportunity to bid on your next bill?

50,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED IN CINCINNATI AT THE GREAT TURNFEST JUNE 10-23.

Statue being made, expressly, for the Turnfest and known as "The Wrestlers." This statue is 10 feet high and will be placed in front of the stadium on Fifth avenue.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Frisch, Fred, Stark, Tron.

Those four words, or the monogram formed of their initials, will be the most conspicuous in Cincinnati and its environs from the nineteenth and the twenty-eighth of June, and for some days prior and subsequent to those dates. They stand for a motto of the North American Turnbund, which scheduled to pull off on the dates mentioned the latest, snappiest, altogether greatest Turnfest that has yet been held on the American continent. And that is going some.

What is a Turnfest? Ask your German neighbor, if you don't know, or read on and find out. The translation on the official bulletins, which are printed in two colors and as many languages, says it is a "gymnastic festival." But it is a lot more than that. It is a whole lot more.

Of course, the gymnastic part of it is a big feature. In the approaching Turnfest over 5,000 "active" Turners will participate.

As is usually the case when any event of an athletic nature takes place in Cincinnati, the Turnfest is under the direction of August Herrmann.

"Garry" Herrmann is president of the National Turnbund and head of the executive committee of the Turnbund. He has been giving up his nights and days for a long time in preparing and laying out the program. In his work he has been able assisted by Henry Hoelle, vice chairman of the committee, and Gustav Clemens, secretary. The program as arranged provides for a series of competitions which will be of unusual interest. Cincinnati has joined heartily in the efforts to make this a great success and has appropriated $100,000 to be spent in entertaining the guests.

Most of the excitement will take place at Garthage fair grounds, though government square has been handsomely decorated in the heart of the city and many of the events and drills will take place there.

What will perhaps attract the most attention is the "tent city" at one end of the grounds. Besides 550 colored wall tents loaned by the United States government by special act of congress—and protected by a bond for $12,000 given by the committee, it may be added—there will be a large number of other tents for various administrative purposes, and it is expected that at least 2,500 of the active Turners will live right down here on the Fest Platz during the time they are in attendance upon the Turnfest. These tents are of khaki-colored canvas, 10 feet high and 16 feet in diameter, and will each hold eight cots comfortably. The committee has to furnish the cots as well as the tents, although a nominal charge that will partly cover the cost is made. A block divided by seven streets has been laid out for the tent city, and every possible arrangement for the comfort of the active Turners is provided.

Not only will the "actives" and a good many of the Turners who are not so active sleep on the Fest Platz, but they will eat there, too. All that has been provided.

PRESIDENT TAFT TO INVESTIGATE SUGAR TRUST. George H. Earle, Jr., receiver for the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company.

Washington.—President Taft, through Attorney General Wickorsham has commenced a quiet but strenuous investigation of the alleged sugar trust.

That the suspicions of the administration have been aroused to a pronounced degree in the case of the sugar trust, especially since the settlement out of court by the American Sugar Refining company of $30,000,000 civil damage instituted against it by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company of Philadelphia, is certain from developments here to day. Incidentally it may be said that President Taft is intensely interested in sugar affairs, not only with respect to possible violations of the anti-trust law and because of the scandal with respect to weighting recently disclosed in New York, but from a tariff standpoint.

The immediate investigation of sugar affairs by the legal branch of the government will deal largely if not entirely with the conditions pertaining to the suit brought by the Pennsylvania Refining company. Several interesting features are presented in this initial activity with respect to the trusts. In the first place the fact that the president has, by orders to the attorney general, taken the initiative without any formal complaint laid before him by parties alleging injury to themselves, so far as known, is interesting. Another fact is that Henry W. Taft, a brother of the president, was one of the elaborate array of local talent employed by the American Sugar Refining company to defend the suit brought by the Pennsylvania company. Still another interesting fact to which attention has been called is that Attorney General Wickorsham was a member of one of the firms retained by the American company.

A decidedly peculiar feature of the case in question is that George H. Earle, Jr., the receiver of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, who forced the trust to a settlement of the suit against it by a cash payment involving some millions of dollars, appears to have had no faith in interesting the federal government in the matter. Mr. Earle is understood to have sought to interest President Roosevelt in the case a few years ago, meeting with utter failure. As a result of this Mr. Culberson of Texas, the minority leader in the senate, had a resolution adopted at the last session of congress asking the attorney general to send to the senate all the correspondence between the department and the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company. The reply indicated that complaint had been made to the department and that the department had failed to take any action against the so-called trust for a violation of the Sherman law with reference to the absorption of the Pennsylvania company.

Dentists Object to Bill.

The British Dental association is making a strenuous effort to modify the anaesthetics bill which was presented to the house of commons recently. The object of the bill is to prevent the administration of anaesthetics by unqualified persons, and it is proposed to effect this by prohibiting the administration of any general anaesthetic by other than a legally qualified medical practitioner and by enacting that after January 1, 1911, no person may be registered under the medical acts unless he shall have produced evidence that he has received theoretical and practical instruction in the administration of anaesthetics.

Great Painting Stolen.

A famous Madonna and child, one of the most noted masterpieces of the world, has just been stolen from a church in Venice, and is supposed to have been shipped to this country. During Lent, according to the custom in the Catholic churches, every picture and statue was covered by a veil. This furnished the unknown thieves with an opportunity to purloin without discovery for some days from the chapel of the historic church of the Madonna del Orto at Venice the picture in question. It is painted on wood. The painting, which is of great beauty, shows the Virgin Mary with the infant Jesus. It was executed by the noted fifteenth century artist, Giambellino, and is among the most highly treasured paintings of Venice.

Be Natural.

Sidney Smith said, by way of advice: "Whatever you are by nature, keep to it; never desert your own line of talent. Be what nature intended you for and you will succeed; be anything else and you will be a thousand times worse than nothing."

Keeps Company with Russia.
Miss Crystal Eastman of New York at a recent Woman's Trade Union league meeting said that the employers' liability law of this country is painfully inadequate. She made a study of the cases of 500 men killed in steel industries and found little provision made for the families of the men by way of compensation for the negligence of the employers. The United States keeps company with Russia in this respect, she says, all other countries of importance having laws for safeguarding employees.

A Coincidence.

On the notice board of a church near Manchester the other day the following announcements appeared together: A potato pie supper will be held on Saturday evening. Subject for Sunday evening, "A Night of Agony."—Manchester Guardian.

YOUNGEST JOURNALIST IN WORLD. RUDY RHINEHART.

Centerville, Iowa.—To the list of notable in this and other countries produced by this city, right alongside such names as Theodore P. Shonts; his daughter, the Duchess Theodora de Chaulnes; the late Gov. Francis M. Drake of Iowa; Cora Payton, Cora Spooner and Edna May Spooner, well-known theatrical stars on Broadway, must be placed the name of Miss Rudy Rhinehart, the twelve-year-old daughter of Editor J. W. Rhinehart of the Centerville Journal, who last week experienced the unusual event that won for her the distinction of being the youngest newspaper woman in the world. Each day at the press table in the Centerville courthouse sat Miss Rhinehart, covering the murder case of John Junkin for her father's paper. All the horrible details of the murder of Charles Rosen by John Junkin were diligently recorded by the little newspaper woman, who covered the assignment in the absence of her father, who was otherwise engaged. Little Miss Rhinehart is the youngest feminine reporter in the world, but this is only shown in her youthful appearance. Her stories have that degree of clearness and accuracy that would do credit to many older experienced in the profession. Her position at the press table placed her immediately in front of the accused negro, who was sentenced to hang, but she was too much engrossed in her work of reporting the case to be bothered by anything like that.

Miss Rhinehart has been doing regular work for her father since the death of her mother, some two years ago, and she hesitates not a moment in recording the most delicate stories for her paper. The youngster when but seven years old won the Benarrest medal in a declamation competition and aside from her talents as an eloquent speaker she possesses a strong soprano voice. Her father has been in the newspaper business for seventeen years and little Miss Rhinehart has practically had nothing but a newspaper environment her entire life.

Up-to-Date Dentistry

If you have lost a front tooth, I can slip in another one to match it perfectly. No plate in your mouth, I fashion the new teeth to your own remaining teeth by a delicate gold backing, out of sight and unobtrusive.

My prices are reasonable, too, which deserves some consideration on your part.

A party recently consulted me for an estimate as to the cost of certain work needed. He finally was persuaded to go to Chicago for the work.

A relative revealed to me the fact that the ultimate cost to him was three times what I asked him, besides he is in continual trouble and Chicago is a long way to go for relief.

My prices and my work are both right.

FESTIVITIES FOR GRADUATES END

ALUMNI BANQUET BRINGS COMMENCEMENT WEEK TO CLOSE.

ATTENDANCE WAS LARGER

At Entertainment Last Evening Than Has Been Present in Any Preceding Year.

The banquet given by the alumni association of the high school last evening was one of the best attended and most successful affairs that has ever been held by the society. In point of numbers it exceeded any other held in several years and for excellence of program it was indeed a credit to those who made the arrangements. The class of '09 and '10, and Mrs. R. C. Denison were the guests of honor.

Shortly after half past six, the members of each class assembled in the order as they graduated and, marching in double file from the assembly room to the stairway leading to the gymnasium, halted, allowing the class of '09 to pass between the lines and enter the banquet floor at the head of the procession. About one hundred and seventy men, women and children were present, and the tables and chairs were decorated with flags and bunting. The dinner was most delicious and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The ladies in charge of the preparations were the enterprising young ladies and young men from the incoming senior class assisting in the serving. The menu was as follows:

Fruit cocktail	Sandwiches
Salmon croquettes with tomato sauce	Chicory balls
Creamed potatoes	Olives
Radishes	Cakes
Ice cream

After the dinner a fine program of songs was given, President Henry S. Lovejoy, of the class of '03 presiding as toastmaster, and welcoming the graduating class to the association. Just as those who have received the required standing in school and passed out, but no alumni; as those who have worked as hard as we have and have gone through the same experiences.

In response to "The Graduates," Vincent Koch, president, expressed the appreciation of the welcome extended to them by the alumni. "We have had the experience to entitle us to enter the ranks of the alumni. Our best efforts will be directed toward helping the association."

Miss Eulalia Kimball gave a clever and witty speech on "The Alumni." The strong tie of fellowship existing between members of the alumni was commented upon and the speaker expressed it as her hope that to the list of those who had gone from the high school and by their deeds had won renown for themselves and their school, many new names would be added from among the forty-seven new recruits.

"Del Regio," a slave-song, was rendered in a most charming manner by Mrs. John G. Rexford and an encore was as heartily applauded.

"To be or not to be, that is the question," was what the toastmaster desired when he selected the topic, said Judge Charles L. Pifford in answering to the toast, "Husbands and Wives." "No doubt he was looking for expert legal advice on the subject."

"In law, a wife has the right to a certain share of her husband's property. That is called the dower. He has a certain part of what she doesn't give to someone else. He is a tenant by courtesy. I am a tenant by courtesy of members of the class of '84. I always liked that class so I married a component part of it. I consider myself a member of it by marriage."

"You can talk on wives forever, Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, said: 'Whoso findeth a wife, findeth a good thing.' Solomon had seven hundred of them and he must have known that you can't have too much of a good thing."

"I believe that the majority of marriages are happy and that in those homes men find rest from all cares and troubles of business. Those marriages which end in the divorce courts are not the kind where the partners are high school graduates and students of the domestic art course."

Dr. Warren P. Behan, of the class of '89, who was to have spoken on "Twenty Years Ago," was unable to attend and Glen Wray, of Chicago substituted for him.

Said Mr. Wray, "I wish that this toast might have been 'Twenty Years Ago' instead of 'Twenty Years After.' I might tell you of some of the incidents of our school days. I might tell of the long tramp up the hill to the school; of the triumphs of my classmates in all kinds of fun and sport; or searching for wild flowers in the woods which stood where houses now are, a short distance from the school; of the pranks played and of the hard work getting water lilies to decorate the Congregational church for the graduation exercises."

"Twenty Years After" there were twenty years. After!—There were ten girls and seven boys in our class. Six of the girls and five of the boys are married; three live in California, one in Boston, three in Madison, four in Chicago and six still live in Janesville. Our numbers since then have increased not only in partners but eighteen youngsters have joined. When I look about and see my classmates I feel as young as when I graduated, but when I look at the younger members and the graduating class I realize that I have become older."

Our teachers have for the most part scattered too. Miss Caroline Zimlinger is the only one who is still with you. You will appreciate her more as you grow older. Many times I thought she dealt a little harshly with me, but she was only teaching me how to live. The things that you learn during your high school days should set the mark for your after years.

The floor was then cleared and to the inspiration of Roy Carter's piano music the couples glided about in waltzes and two-steps. The party ended at midnight.

Baptist Church of This City Will Exp. pend Several Hundred Dollars This Summer.

Extensive improvements, costing in the aggregate, several hundreds of dollars have been begun at the Baptist church and others are planned for. The work which formerly extended about the structure has been torn out and replaced by a cement walk. The kitchen which has become rather small for use in church suppers and banquets will have an addition built on, making it quite ample. The old system of heating the building by a furnace is being removed and will be supplanted by steam heat. The structure will be re-roofed and the interior of the Sunday School rooms will be repainted and rearranged.

THREE LIVELY GAMES ARE PLAYED TODAY

The Six Commercial League Teams in Contests for Leadership This Afternoon.

Fair weather today made ideal conditions for the baseball games of the Commercial league which are being played this afternoon. At Yost's park where the employees of the Janesville Machine company held their picnic today a battle royal is being waged this afternoon. At Athletic Park the Lewis Knitting Company "Spinsters" crossed bats with the "Athletes." The Association team last Saturday defeated the Janesville Machine company and though the "Spinsters" now stand at the head of the league, they will have to look after their laurels.

The nine standing lowest in the league, the Gazette and the Wisconsin Carriage company, meet at the Fair Grounds to decide whether the Carriage-makers should still remain at the bottom or should split honors even by winning the game, which if they are successful will be the first captured by them since the season opened.

SCIENCE NOTES

An interesting dredge, which is automatic in its operation, has been working on the river Volga, in Russia, for some time for the purpose of maintaining a level river bottom by moving the dirt from the high places and depositing it at the low spots. The dredge is the invention of a Russian nobleman, Baron Nicolas Tomin. Beneath the craft there is supported a screw, by which the soil is gathered up. There seems to be almost no limit to the width of the channel that may be cut by this dredge. The screw's cutting surface may be increased as desired by the addition of sections so that in some instances as much as 220 feet has been operated. The inventor is of the opinion that this is not of the possible length. He says he sees no reason why the screw should not be made 500 feet long if found desirable. The power which drives this dredge is derived from the current of the stream on which it is at work. In operation these sections are secured together to the desired length on the shore and then launched into the stream, where the line of screws is secured in beneath the dredge. When the full force of the current is encountered, the machinery is automatically set in motion and the work proceeds. This novel piece of mechanism has attracted the general interest of engineers abroad and has been heartily endorsed by many of them. By a recent improvement it is possible to deposit the soil on screws for removal to more distant points where its presence may be desired.

By substituting disks of carbon for the rods of the same material it has been made possible to greatly reduce the size of the arc lamps and at the same time to prevent a lamp which will burn 50 per cent. longer without renewal. These are important improvements. The efficiency of the arc lamp has always been limited by reason of the unequal consumption of the carbon rods, which have had a tendency to burn faster on one side than another, and in this manner a perfect contact of the two ends was possible only occasionally. In the new design which makes use of the carbon disks the latter are revolving all the time the lamp is in use and the arc is made at the edges of the two disks. The 10-ampere lamp of this design are but 20 inches over all.

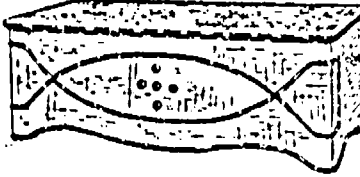

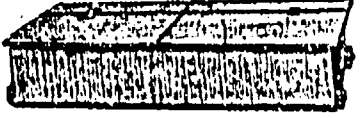

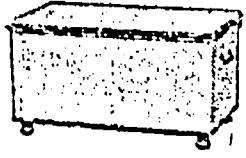

Sanitary car straps for those who are compelled to stand in the street cars are being tried in some of the underground cars in use in New York. The new "strap" consists of a steel rod having a porcelain handle at the lower end. These may be kept absolutely clean, whereas a recent examination of a car strap which had been in service but comparatively short time was found to be reeking with all kinds of germs.

The cost of filtering water by the slow sand method is given as follows in the 1907 report of the Lawrence, Mass., water board. During that year 1,100,000 gallons were filtered at a total cost of $11,644.52, or about $0.08 per 1,000,000 gallon. The itemized cost per 1,000,000 gallon was: Removal of ice and snow, $3,004; scraping, $1,455; sanding, $0.97; washing and conveying sand, $1,600; filter maintenance and extras, $1,880; care of grounds, $0.52.

Putting Expression into It. The teacher of elocution was nearly discouraged, says a writer in the Boston Transcript. He urged his pupils, in some excitement, to put more expression into their recitations. "Too flat!" he exclaimed. "Too colorless! You can do better than that. Try again. Now! Open your mouth and throw yourself into it!"

Housekeepers Draw the Line Today Between Kitchen Drudgery and Kitchen Comfort

We Show a Pretty Strong Comparison Herewith That Will Surely Bring Your Decision in Favor of the GAS RANGE

On This Side We Have Kitchen Drudgery

A multiplicity of antiquated ideas: hatchet, poker, shovel, dust brush, stove lid lifter, kindling wood, as well as other useless accessories.

Smoke, dust, ashes, heat and odor.

Clothing soiled, temper tried, time lost.

Maybe you will get your fire started in time to cook a meal—and maybe you won't.

Make yourself the ashman, fireman and engineer, all in one.

Finally, you have what "used-to-be" a cooking appliance—and the sooner the old iron man gets it, the better you will be satisfied with life.

Watch the coal and wood stove go.

On This Side We Have a Modern Cooking Appliance

BECAUSE:

It is superior to others from point of durability.

For safety and general reliability it is in a class by itself.

It is free from dirt, smoke, soot, ashes and other annoyances.

It is always ready. Turn a valve and you get what you want, when you want it.

'Twill brown a steak, bake a cake, cook anything—with almost mechanical exactness, as the flame is under absolute control.

It doesn't transform your kitchen into an engine room in the summer time.

It saves time every day of your life. No housekeeper can point with pride to her kitchen until a gas range has been installed.

We illustrate our Cabinet Gas Range.

It has five burners: one double burner, three single burners and one simmering burner.

It has a baking oven, a warming oven and broiling oven, all heated with same burners.

The oven is placed conveniently so as to obviate the necessity of stooping. The price $30.

Other styles of gas ranges at $13.50 and up. Terms one-third cash, balance in 6 equal monthly payments.

We have all styles of gas ranges on display at our office.

BOOST THE PAPER TARIFF

SENATE INCREASES RATE FROM TWO TO FOUR DOLLARS
A TON.

BAILEY REPUDIATES BRYAN

Texas, Again Declares He is Independent of Democratic Platform and Gets Into a Clash with Senator Hughes of Colorado.

Washington, June 19.—By a vote of 44 to 32 the senate decided last night to raise the house rate on print paper from two to four dollars a ton.

The vote was as follows:

Yeas—Aldrich, Borah, Brandegee, Briggs, Bulkeley, Buraham, Burrows, Burton, Carter, Clark, of Wyoming, Crane, Crawford, Cullom, Dick, Dillingham, Dixon, Flint, Frye, Gallagher, Gamble, Guggenheim, Hale, Heyburn, Johnson, Jones, Keen, Lodge, Lorimer, Nelson, Nixon, Oliver, Page, Penrose, Perkins, Piles, Root, Scott, Smoot, Sutherland, Tallaferra, Warner, Warren, Wetmore.

Nays—Innocent, Blackburn, Beveridge, Bratton, Brown, Burdick, Chambers, Linn, Clay, Cummins, Curtis, Daniel, Davis, Doolittle, Fletcher, Frazier, Gore, Hughes, La Follette, McLaurin, Martin, Money, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Paynter, Rayner, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Michigan, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Tillman.

Income Tax Fight To-Day.

The Valley income tax amendment was the pending amendment when the senate convened to-day. If an unanimous consent agreement in accordance with the motion made by Mr. Aldrich yesterday is not obtained Senator Bailey probably will move to postpone consideration of these subjects to a certain day.

The discussion of the tariff yesterday was confined largely to the Democratic side, and while technically based upon the tariff, had more pertinent reference to the Democratic national platform. The immediate subject of debate was an interview with former Representative John E. Lamb of Indiana in which that gentleman was represented as criticizing some of the Democratic senators who had not cast their votes on some of the schedules in accordance with the declarations of the Denver platform. Among those who were referred to were Senators Daniel of Virginia and Simmons of North Carolina, and each made a response to the criticism.

Bailey Declares Independence.

Senator Bailey took occasion also to reiterate his independence of special declarations by the party, and Senator Hughes, the new senator from Colorado, was ultimately drawn into the discussion. Senator Bailey having said that the Denver platform had been the work of one man, Senator Hughes entered upon a defense of Mr. Bryan and of the platform. His remarks caused Senator Bailey to again take the floor, and in defending his position he undertook to show that by his vote for a duty on lead ore Senator Hughes had himself not been entirely controlled by the official utterances of his party. He made reference to "trusts" and "masters," which in turn aroused Senator Hughes, and he responded with much feeling, declaring that he was under no outside influence and under no obligations to any trust.

Previous to this discussion a vote had been taken on Senator Brown's amendment providing for the free importation of print paper, and it was defeated by a vote of 29 to 52.

Senator Lorimer of Illinois was sworn in and took his seat. The ceremony was witnessed by the senator's wife and five children. Senator Lorimer cast his first vote against free paper.

WRITER ADMITS FORGERY.

Brandenburg Says Cleveland's Name on Article is Not Genuine.

New York, June 19.—The authenticity of two words on a slip of paper in a glass case—Grover Cleveland—about which the trial of Broughton Brandenburg, the magazine writer, charged with grand larceny for the sale to the New York Times of an article purporting to have been written by Mr. Cleveland, has largely centered so far, lost something of their importance when Brandenburg's counsel announced that his client would admit that the signature was a forgery, and not that of the former president of the United States.

This rather surprising turn in the case occurred after Richard Watson Gilder, the veteran magazine editor, had declared emphatically on the stand that the signature shown him was not that of his old friend, Grover Cleveland. At this point Brandenburg's lawyer interposed a statement. "We do not contend," he said, "that the signature in the glass case is genuine. After Mr. Gilder and Mrs. Cleveland have said it was not, we would not possibly presume to say it was."

SIGEL'S GRANDDAUGHTER BLAIN.

Chinese Suspected of Murdering Civil War Hero's Descendant.

New York, June 19.—Elizabeth Sigel, daughter of Paul Sigel of this city and granddaughter of the illustrious Franz Sigel, the German warrior, who enlisted his services with the union army during the civil war, is, according to all indication the victim of one of the most sordid murders in the history of New York.

If she is not the victim, the police are confronted with a remarkable series of coincidental facts. Taken from a trunk in a room of a Chinaman above a chop suey restaurant in the Tenderloin, the body, in a state of decomposition, which makes identification difficult, lies in the morgue while detectives are collecting the threads of a tangled story involving the girl and her associations with Chinese. An envelope addressed to the girl found in the room where the body lay, a locket bearing her initials, her disappearance on June 10 and a note found in the room, signed "Eliot" all seem to indicate that Franz Sigel's granddaughter was murdered. The body was partially stripped of its clothing, tied with ropes, wrapped in a faded blue blanket and crammed into a dilapidated old trunk.

DRIVE BISHOP FROM TOWN.

Mob Attacks Three Catholic Churchmen in Ulysses, Neb.

Ulysses, Neb., June 19.—Eight Rev. Bishop Monahan of the Catholic diocese of Lincoln, Father O'Brien of Seward and Father Kilne of Bradard were driven from this village last night by an angry mob of between 200 and 250 persons. The bishop and his priests had come to Ulysses to formally take possession of the church here over which Father Murphy has held charge and about which there has been trouble for several years. Sympathizers of Father Murphy, both Catholics and non-Catholics, joined the mob. Father Murphy counseled the mob to do no violence.

Father O'Brien secured a ivory rig and taking Bishop Monahan and Father Kilne, left in the direction of David City. They were overtaken in an auto and the bishop and priests forced to get out and walk. When last seen, the bishop and his party were walking north along the road toward David City.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE DRINKERS

Charge Made Against Pupils of Dayonne, N. J., Is Verified.

New York, June 19.—The report that drunkenness prevails among the pupils in the Dayonne, N. J., public schools has been verified, despite the denials of the city officials, by a special committee of the school board, whose report sustains the charges made by Dr. Henry A. Abbott, medical inspector, that many children attended school under the influence of liquor.

The board issued an appeal to parents, teachers and pupils to do their utmost in discouraging the use of intoxicants by the children of the city. It was also resolved to enforce the law forbidding the sale of cigarettes to boys under 16 years.

Joliet, Ill., June 19.—William Berthel of Chicago, convict No. 9,230 at the Illinois state penitentiary, was shot and fatally wounded by Keeper Reichert of the prison farm just before supper time last night. He was attempting to escape and was rapidly distancing his pursuers when a shot from Reichert's revolver brought him down.

GOULD'S VALET GAVE TESTIMONY

MAN WHO WAS HER PRIVATE

CALLS CHAUFFEUR "DEARIE"

Mistakes Auto Driver for Dustin Farnum and Then Apologizes—Witnesses Say the Actor Was Often with the Millionaire's Wife.

New York, June 19.—That Mrs. Howard Gould was often with Dustin Farnum, an actor, despite her testimony to the contrary, was shown by witnesses for the defense in the suit for separation and $250,000 alimony of the millionaire's wife.

There was also testimony by servants and personal attendants that Mrs. Gould was repeatedly seen under the influence of liquor by them, and that when she had been drinking, as they alleged on the stand, she changed from a charming, affable woman to a woman of whims and caprices, fittempered, not nice in her choice of language, overbearing and quarrelsome.

Her "Valet" on Stand.

Mrs. Gould's one-time personal "valet," Harry J. Veltch of Des Moines, Ia., swore that at one time he served his mistress with two quarts of Manhattan cocktails in as many days, besides the wines and liquors which he said she drank at table. On cross-examining these witnesses, Clarence J. Shearn for Mrs. Gould, strove always to prove either that they had a personal grudge against her or that they were under obligation to Mr. Gould. Endearing epithets twice marked the testimony.

John H. Kimball, an oil and paint dealer, who said he had known Mr. Gould for 18 years, testified that he went to a performance of "The Virginian" in August, 1906, with Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Sells and the Goulds, at the Academy of Music in this city, and that Dustin Farnum, the star in the play, joined the party outside the playhouse after the performance and spoke to Mrs. Gould. She smiled, the witness testified, and said to the witness: "This is my new beau."

John Flynn, who said he was employed by Mrs. Gould as a chauffeur, and that he often drove her to meet Farnum after the play, testified that once when Mrs. Gould was waiting in the automobile for Farnum at the Hotel Somerset, two men turned to the actor as he came out at the hotel door and asked him whose automobile was waiting.

"Oh," said Farnum, laughing, Flynn testified, "that is my new one."

Called Chauffeur "Dearie."

Another time, Flynn swore, when he rapped on Mrs. Gould's chamber door at the St. Regis, who called out: "All right, dearie," and then, when she saw who it was, excused herself with: "I thought it was Mr. Farnum."

Mary Elizabeth Harrison, a fresh checked, good looking girl, who said she was a floor clerk in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia, professed her testimony with the explanation that it was her first appearance in court. She had been impelled by her conscience, she said, to tell what she saw at the hotel. Finally she wrote a letter to Mr. Gould.

"I said in the letter," she testified, "in obedience to the Golden Rule, I write to you to help you if you are in trouble, or something like that."

Mrs. Gould occupied apartments on the floor where she was stationed in September, 1906, the witness went on, and one morning about 7:30 o'clock she said, she saw a man come out of Mrs. Gould's rooms and take the elevator. She noticed that he was the only passenger in the car, and that the dial registered fourteenth floor when the car stopped. She described the man as tall, with dark, bushy hair and wearing a soft hat and a long coat.

The defense contends that Dustin Farnum was staying on the fourteenth floor of the hotel at that time.

SENT SAWDUST AS CARTRIDGES.

Hallen Explains Why He Tricked the Nicaraguan Government.

New York, June 19.—James D. Hallen, who sent sawdust and shavings and other litter instead of ammunition to Nicaragua in 1906, sought to justify his action on the ground that at that time he was a secret agent of the republic of Guatemala and as such tried to frustrate an alleged intention of President Zelaya of Nicaragua to realize a great ambition—"to become head of the United States of Central America."

Hallen is being tried in the court of general sessions, charged with defrauding representatives of the Nicaraguan government out of $11,500 in a contract to ship ammunition.

Hallen contracted with them to furnish the ammunition—1,000,000 cartridges—and then came the sawdust trick. Even this, he says, cost him $2,250. Afterward he paid back $8,800 which remained of the cartridge fund.

Home for Seamen and Fishermen.
Speaking in Toronto recently, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the Labrador physician-missionary, outlined his project of erecting in St. John's, N. F., a home for seamen and fishermen. Fishermen have really no place to go if they have no homes, and the doctor's plan is to erect a commodious building, which will be a club as well as a home for these men. The building is to stand two blocks off the water front, in the district most frequented by seagoing men, and is to be constructed of selected red brick, with native stone trimmings. Its probable cost will be $100,000. There are to be four floors and a basement, with separate quarters for men and women. Most of the latter are schooner girls and "out-port" women.

For a Clear Eye and Sunny Smile

For the ability to get up in the morning, eager for a day's work and with the vim and vigor to meet it, drink

Bonano

the new fruit food drink from the tropics, and drink it three times a day, for it will put new energy and stamina into your system, new strength into your nerves.

Bonano is a hot table drink. It is just like tea, coffee, cocoa and chocolate—except that it's different.

It's different from coffee or tea because it doesn't contain poison, and does contain plenty of good nourishing food.

It's different from cocoa and chocolate because it's easily digestible, and you can drink it every day right along, as you can't cocoa or chocolate.

And it's different from them all because it has a new distinctive taste of its own—the taste of delicious wholesome fruit.

Bonano is made only from luscious bananas, fully matured in the sunshine of the tropics, harvested and dried there, then shipped north, granulated, roasted and scientifically blended, and delivered to you in a dust-proof, moisture-proof can.

Nothing but liquid fruit. No flavoring or coloring, no adulteration of any kind. It's the purest of pure foods.

You should drink Bonano three times a day or oftener; you can give it to the children when they want coffee or tea. It will bring them rosy cheeks. And it will help you to have round digestive, calm nerves and a bounding pulse—all you wish and go.

Your grocer has a 25 cent can for you that will make 75 cups, or, if he's out, the attached coupon, sent to us, will bring you a free sample.

TRANSPLANTING MAY

BE LATE THIS YEAR

Rains Are Delaying Planting—Few
Sales of Old Stock Reported.

Edgerton Reporter.

The transplanting of the new crop is now pretty well under way in most sections of the state and the favorable conditions have been quite ventilating this work during the week. The soil has been so thoroughly saturated by late frequent rains that it is an easy matter to secure a good stand and an early rooting of the plants. The cool weather, too, has been helpful in that there is but little wilting of the plants after being removed from the beds. Some delays have been occasioned by growers not being able to secure early plants, but a fair number rapidly during the continued wet spell when they were unable to use the machine transplant-ers. Then, too, there was a loss of plants from rotting during the wet week, though the progressive growers were fairly well protected by planting an unusually large area of plant beds owing to the intensity of the rain-son. At the present writing we have very few complaints of not having plants enough in sight for the intended acreage, though the planting season may be extended into July this year.Very little has occurred during the week to relieve the monotony of a dull market. A few sales of the remains of the '98 crop have been made at figures around former quotations.
A few thousand cases yet remain. In first hands which may be the basis of a speculative trading for some time to come. In old leaf the market continues to drag, though a promise is held out by the eastern trade of a revival of business in the fall months.
The usual amount of sales on manufacturers' orders in small lots prevails, but the disposition of packages is what concerns local dealers most.
As far as indications go to date the
'98 crop is coming along through the season in a very satisfactory condition with a promise of less damage than recent years.The planting of the new crop in this section now quite generally started, but frequent rains during the week are delaying the work somewhat. The bulk of the crop ought to be transferred to the fields the coming week to come within the usual dates for transplanting in this state.
It is almost certain, however, that the season will lap over into July this year.

Proposed Salvation Army
Headquarters For Which
$1,700 Has Been SubscribedMajor C. T. Jordan, division commander, of Milwaukee, has been spending some days in Janesville, and with Captain R. A. Fleming, has already called on a number of friends and supporters of the Salvation Army for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a permanent building for the army work in this city. The building, which they contemplate buying is situated on North Main street,
and is known as the Evanson block.
The price has been set at $6,000, with $1,000 within thirty days after occupancy, the second balance to remain at monthly, and the balance to remain at five per cent. until paid. Captain Fleming states that he has already received in cash and promises, the sumCAPTAIN HATCH AND
THE TURTLE'S LOVESummer Fishing Yarn Concerning the Snapper's Affection for the Dogfish.June has come. The bass are bitting. The trout have given up the worm habit and are turning to flies.
The loach never were so green and many a strong man is pollarding his office chair with nervous restlessness
while the devil-temper with a fishing rod sits in the corner holding up three fingers and grinning. It's awful.
But up at Grinnell, things are doing. Since the ice went out this spring Captain Frank Hatch has been unusually cultivating the acquaintance of one of the finest snapping turtles in Minnesota. He is eighteen inches long and almost as broad and has a neck that looks like a hump sausage after it has wrinkled in the heat of the sun.The captain loves animals, and the politeness with which the turtle has regularly appeared at the end of the dock and waited until he was invited to partake of the leavings after the captain's nightly fish-cleaning spree won first his regard and then his affection. The turtle reciprocated, and has recently become so tame that every time the captain calls, he comes teetering along the grassy bottom and rising to the surface with a most affectionate expression for the thrift the captain has in store; a piece of yellow perch, or a couple of fish from a bass. The choicest morsels and those which the big turtle has secured to especially regard are the backs of the common sunfish, after they have been dressed of scale and fins, and these he fastidiously chews with a content and joy so apparent as to wring the profoundest admiration from any lover who watches.The turtle was absent for several days about a month or so ago, and when he appeared there was an enormous dogfish following him. The captain's habits dogfish and gave the turtle's lighted left the dock. But the chore boy asserts that the turtle picked up afterward he saw the turtle pick several choice morsels and immediately into the deeper water when the third dogfish waited. After several minutes he was able to see that the turtle was delivering the choicest bits to his strange companion, and observed that of different days convinced him that an affection had sprung up between the turtle and the fish. He reported to the captain, but the captain simply snuffed.Now this is what happened afterwards as the captain tells it:
"I didn't believe the chore boy's tale although several times I saw that big turtle with the fish close by.
I noticed though, that the turtle didn't come quite so quickly to my call. Then something queer happened. A little boy came up with his mother for a few days and amused himself most of the time by fishing off the dock.
One afternoon about five o'clock I heard an awful noise down here and from the terrible splashing I figured out once that the little fellow had fallen in, and I went down with a rush, and what do you suppose? That boy had anchored his hook into the jaws of one of the biggest dogfish ever I ever saw and was landing him.
The splashing, sandy beach, I was mad
and I started in to help him land that slippery reptile, and just as I got my hands into the gills the oddest thing I ever saw occurred.
"Fifty yards out there was a heavily in the water and something was coming in shore with the speed of a locomotive. When it got close I saw it was my big snapping turtle. I was so surprised I couldn't let go of the fish and just stood holding him.
The turtle came up almost to my feet
and then he got up in the water—yes you would think he was standing on the end of his tail, and his head and neck stuck out and he rolled his eyes and wagged his flippers. Say, if you everCollective Wisdom.

Hair Removers Are Dangerous

Ladies should be most particular in choosing a hair remover, and first what reputable authorities know about it.
In treating superfluous hair it is of vital importance that the agent to be employed should be absolutely non-poisonous, antiseptic and germicidal, because if it is not so with frequent use it will produce eczema or blood poisoning.The Miracle is the only hair remover that offers proof of its safety, and sure. Don't be deceived by startling statements made by fake "Miracle" advertisers and others. The Miracles is sold by Dr. J. C. Ross's Drug

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 19, 1860.—Took Their Own Risk.—The proprietors of the big show which entered town this morning were notified by the Mayor and Aldermen Rogers that the bridge was unsafe and warned them not to cross it. They said, however, that they would take their own risk and accordingly went over it with the entire procession. It was an extremely injudicious thing to do, inasmuch as in addition to the weight of the elephants large numbers of men, women and children crowded onto the structure on either side thereby largely increasing the great weight imposed upon it.

The Roses.—The lovers of roses are delighting in an abundant crop of these floral beauties. The worms, which did such savage execution to them last year have worked but slightly thus far, and as a consequence both bloom and wood have thriven finely.

Drainage Fund.—In the apportionment of the drainage fund this year Rock county comes in for only $1200. Well we don't care. There is not much drainage needed in this county unless it keeps on raining. If it does, Rock River will be inadequate to the task.

Look Out For Them.—Those who go to the big show this afternoon and evening should leave their valuables at home. Pickpockets always follow in the wake of such exhibitions.

is cordially invited.

Church of the United Brethren in Christ—Corner Milton and Prospect avenues. L. A. McIntyre, pastor. Bible school, 10 a. m.; preaching services, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.; Juniors meet at 3 p. m.; Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. A children's day program will be rendered by the Bible school at the 7:30 service. All are cordially invited to these services. Special midweek service will be held on Friday instead of Thursday evening this week.

Presbyterian church—Rev. J. W. Laughlin, pastor. Morning worship at 10:30, subject of sermon—"Life's Adjustments"; subject for evening sermon—"A Study of Luther, the Man of Faith." You are cordially invited.

First Baptist church—Joseph C. Hazen, pastor. Morning worship 10:30, subject—"Our Literature," the special feature of the morning service at 11 o'clock will be the dedication of thirty-nine babies; Sunday school, 12 noon; Young People's society, 6:30, topic—"Our Absent Members," leader—Frank Sadler; evening service, 7:30, this will be sacred song service given by the choir, assisted by outside talent, short address by the pastor, Sunday, June 27, the Children's Day services will take place in the morning and there will be no evening services. July 4th Dr. J. A. Steedman, chairman of the Illinois state prison at Joliet, will preach in the morning and speak in the evening at the union services.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

WHERE COOKING INJURES.

Food is in its natural state uncooked. Albumen, the fundamental element of food nutrition, coagulates at a temperature of 160 and becomes largely unassimilable, an irritating, uric acid producing, kidney-taxing, sleep-destroying waste. Heat bursts the starch granules of cereals and allows the digestive juices to penetrate, but it coagulates the albumen, precipitates the mineral elements (when excessive) and produces in many cases, chemical changes that cause serious disturbances in the cell economy. Cooked food of any kind quickly spoils and supports germ growth much more readily than uncooked. Spoiled food may contain disease-producing germs which heat will destroy—while destroying largely its nutritive value.

Wash lettuce, prunes, cabbage, strawberries and other fruits thoroughly, but endeavor to secure them so fresh that they will need little or no cooking. Especially is this necessary in spring and summer.

The peanut is rich in the mineral elements, assimilable albumen, fat and especially in phosphoric acid, so essential for brain work, and it should be eaten uncooked, though it may be heated to 120 degrees F. to allow the removal of the skin, which contains tannic acid, the injurious principle in tea, irritating to the mucous lining of the intestine especially.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TO MAKE oneself distinctive by the beauty of one's garments is one thing; to be made conspicuous by their extremeness of fashion is another.

Few women can afford the first by reason of the prohibition of their pocketbooks. No woman can afford the second by reason of the double prohibition of pocketbook and taste.

And yet, though the rich woman is prohibited by only one of these reasons and the wage earner by both, it's usually the latter who buys the tremendously big hat, the extremely scant skirt, the ultra cutaway coat.

And every time a girl on a moderate salary buys such things it means that she will either have to wear them the next year when they are as startlingly out of fashion as they now are in, or buy new garments to take their places. She usually does the second with the result that she always has two cheap, ill-fitting garments, where she might have had one good one.

I know a girl who dresses well on the same salary on which her fellow clerks make frights of themselves.

I asked her the other day if she stinted on food or room rent to do it.

"Indeed I don't," she said, "I simply buy one good garment where they buy two or three cheap ones. I always buy things that have good lines and are made of good material, but I never get extremes of fashion that will be ridiculous the next year. I don't have much variety and I know lots of the girls pity me for having to wear the same coat two or three winters, but I'm satisfied and I'm glad they are."

I'm not glad. I wish they and all the rest of their kind who keep open a market for all the shoddily made novelties that human ingenuity can invent could somehow be made dissatisfied.

It would come pretty near being a divine dissatisfaction, I think.

NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS

EVANSVILLE

Evansville, June 18.—At the annual W. C. T. U. convention held in East Chicago, June 15 and 16, Miss Cora Harris of this city was elected department press correspondent. Miss Harris has been secretary of the Evansville corps for their past two years, and last year was appointed to the office of department press correspondent. She is a native of Evansville, and is a member of the local corps. The local corps feel greatly honored in having one of their members elected to this high office. The honor came as a complete surprise to Miss Harris, who was unable to attend the convention on account of the illness of her mother.

The committee who have charge of the arrangements for the celebration to take place here July 3d are constantly adding new features to the program. It is now known that A. H. Among the various athletic events will be a Marathon race in which there will be entered from Janesville, Madison, Beloit, Freeport and Evansville. A prominent Beloit athlete will give an exhibition of heavy lifting and there will be a boxing match between a Janesville man and a conductor from Milwaukee. The camping club will be guests of Rev. and Mrs. D. Q. Grallie next Tuesday evening.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG.

SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address as above.

CITY BUILDING

There is a community in Wyoming where an advertising fund of $5000 was created. Handsome literature was printed. A one inch classified advertisement was inserted in many mediums for one month at a cost of $750. The ad within two months brought 8000 inquiries, located 60 people and sold by mail 7000 acres of land at $30 per acre. The balance of the appropriation is expected to sell 150,000 acres of land and locate 2500 people.

Men with Drunken Throats.

"It is astonishing to note how some men can imbibe the most fiery liquors as easily as the average citizen can toss down a glass of lemonade," said Capt. George P. Rainey of Del Rio, Tex., at the Hotel Kernan. "I have a neighbor who is so used to drinking whiskey of extraordinary high proof—130—that when he indulges in that blistering essence of rye he follows it up with a glass of 140 proof—the standard—as a 'chaser,' quite as most men take water to mitigate the ardent stuff. In my country it is no uncommon thing for old frontiersmen to drink alcohol that has been slightly diluted, and I have seen not a few who could pour the raw article down their throats in seeming enjoyment." —Baltimore American.

Her Pastor.

They were talking in low tones of the hostess. "She has a very gracious presence," said one. "It's a pity she isn't married to a man with money, so that she could entertain more elegantly. She seems to be used to entertaining." "She is," another explained. "Several of her former husbands were men of brains and some means, they tell me."
